December 10, 2024

Welcome to the BRILIAN fourth newsletter! 🌱 As we begin a new year, we are excited to announce the launch of the BRILIAN Online Training Series – a set of online sessions designed to strengthen bioeconomy skills and knowledge for rural communities across Europe.

Starting at the end of January and running until May 2025, these online trainings offer unique opportunities to learn from industry experts and explore the transformative potential of bioeconomy solutions, with a focus on fostering economic and social development in rural areas.

Each session is specifically tailored to address key challenges, share practical knowledge, and equip participants with the tools needed to support sustainable practices locally and beyond.

🌱 What to Expect from the Training Series

Our online trainings, are structured as engaging 1.5-hour webinars, featuring in-depth discussions on essential bioeconomy topics, where the “trainers” will be partners of the project who will share their insights.

These interactive webinars are your chance to learn directly from industry experts and innovators, with opportunities to exchange ideas and explore actionable solutions.

Here’s a sneak peek at our five main topics:

🌐 Policy alignment: toward a coherent and supportive framework (January). This webinar will delve into the critical role of harmonizing policies across economic, social, environmental, and technological domains to build a cohesive framework that fosters sustainable growth.
